Australia's Most Awarded Balsamic Maker Brings Balsamic Pearls to PLMA Chicago 2026

Sticky Balsamic to showcase white-label balsamic vinegar and balsamic pearls to US retail and foodservice buyers, November 15–17

BANNOCKBURN, VICTORIA, AUSTRALIA — 10 SEP 2026 — Sticky Balsamic, Australia's most awarded balsamic manufacturer with more than 120 awards, will exhibit at PLMA's 2026 Private Label Trade Show, themed "Store Brands Marketplace," in Chicago from November 15–17. The company will be at Booth #1236, exhibiting as part of the Australian Austrade delegation.

This innovative manufacturer brings two flagship offerings to the show floor: twelve varieties of white-label balsamic vinegars, and six varieties of balsamic pearls — a shelf-stable balsamic in pearl form that delivers a burst-in-the-mouth finish alongside exceptional presentation, without the mess of a traditional bottle.

All Sticky Balsamic products carry a minimum three-year shelf life and are backed by SQF, HACCP and FDA certifications, with export experience across multiple countries, including the US. The company also offers custom recipe development for retail and foodservice partners, with packaging built for both channels — with vinegar available in sizes from 2 tsp sachets and 8.45 fl oz retail bottles up to 67.6 fl oz foodservice formats, and Pearls available in 3.8 oz retail and 1 lb foodservice packs.

"We've spent years building a range that retailers can put their own name on with total confidence — award-winning quality, real shelf life, and the certifications US buyers need to see," said Lea Priest, Founder of Sticky Balsamic. "Chicago is where that conversation happens; we're looking forward to it."

Attendees can find Sticky Balsamic at Booth #1236 throughout the show to taste the range and discuss private label and foodservice partnership opportunities.
