RAYONG, THAILAND – Want to sell fish sauce under your own name? Rungroj Fish Sauce Co., Ltd. will make it for you. The Thai sauce manufacturer, ranked among the top ten fish sauce makers in the world in Mordor Intelligence's 2021 report, is offering private label and OEM manufacturing to brands that want a Thai sauce line under their own name.

PRIVATE LABEL / OEM

- Fish Sauce

Rungroj has been making fish sauce for over 70 years and now exports to more than 64 customers in 24 countries: the United States, the United Kingdom, Europe, the Philippines, China, Hong Kong, South Africa, Australia, Indonesia, Dubai, India, Malaysia and Singapore. For new brand owners, the company puts four promises up front. The taste stays the same from batch to batch. Your brand stays confidential. Orders move quickly from production to export. And quality checks meet international standards.

What goes into the fish sauce

Rungroj's fish sauce is made from pure anchovy sauce. It has no 3-MCPD, MSG, preservatives, gluten or artificial coloring, and it is low in histamine. The anchovies come from the waters around Rayong and nearby provinces, from suppliers the company has worked with for 70 years. Fermentation takes place in sterilized tanks and runs for more than 14 months, compared with the usual 12, and the sauce is then passed through a 1-micron filter. The recipes have been handed down through generations and are now made with modern technology. Customers can choose from several formulations, including ones for keto-minded and health-conscious markets.

Why Rayong

The factory is ten minutes from the Gulf of Thailand, which Rungroj calls one of the best fishing waters in the world, and one that is protected from major regional monsoons, typhoons and storms. Laem Chabang Port, Thailand's biggest and most advanced port, is about an hour away. It handles 6.58 million TEUs.

From trial batch to finished bottle

The OEM service covers trial production, full production, packaging design, printing and packaging, and Rungroj also helps customers with their FDA application. Production and bottling run on modern equipment under a strict labelling, documentation and packaging workflow. The company says OEM brand confidentiality is safe with its disciplined workforce, and its staff are certified by FSMA and PCQI. The plant works to GMP, HACCP, FSSC 22000 and BRC standards. Because Rungroj's seasoning sauce range runs from lime sauce to oyster sauce, customers can cross-order other products when they import their OEM fish sauce. The company also keeps researching and developing new products.
