Lima, Peru — October 2026. Machu Picchu Foods is a trusted B2B manufacturer with 26 years of experience developing customized chocolate and snack solutions for global brands. Having partnered with more than 200 leading brands worldwide, the company combines Peruvian cacao expertise, advanced manufacturing capabilities, and a collaborative approach to help businesses bring innovative products to market.

More than manufacturing: A partner for growth

From product conceptualization and recipe development to packaging, production, and export logistics, Machu Picchu Foods offers comprehensive support at every stage of the product journey.

Its multidisciplinary teams across Research & Development, Business Intelligence, Quality, and Operations work closely with customers to transform market insights into commercially relevant products.

This integrated approach enables brands to focus on growing their business while relying on an experienced partner to manage the complexities of manufacturing.

Customized solutions for evolving consumer needs

Machu Picchu Foods offers a diverse portfolio of chocolate and snack solutions, including chocolate bars, chips, chunks, cups, truffles, panned chocolate, cocoa products, and sweet snacks.

With over 30 flexible production lines and specialized manufacturing capabilities, the company supports product development tailored to different recipes, formats, ingredients, and consumer preferences.

Through continuous research into market trends, flavors, textures, and emerging consumption occasions, Machu Picchu Foods helps customers explore innovation opportunities and differentiate their product offerings.

Quality, traceability, and responsible sourcing

Every product reflects a strong commitment to quality, transparency, and responsible sourcing. From carefully selected ingredients to rigorous production standards and bean-to-bar traceability, each stage of the process is designed to deliver consistent quality and meet the expectations of global brands.

As a B Corp certified company, Machu Picchu Foods also integrates responsible sourcing and sustainability into its operations, strengthening relationships with Peruvian cacao-growing communities and promoting long-term value throughout its supply chain.
